Branch Dinner

Nontraditional Jobs For Women

A Panel Discussion

October 8, 2013

At our next branch dinner, we will host a discussion by a panel of women who have embraced jobs that are typically not performed by women. Please come and meet Christine Schryver, the First Firewoman in Rochester, a woman engineer from RIT, a female zookeeper and a car saleswoman. Hear from their own perspective why they chose their “unusual” fields, what kinds of barriers they hurdled and suggestions on how we can encourage the next generation of young women to explore nontraditional career choices.

When I was a young girl going to elementary school, our class had a discussion about what we were going to be when we grew up. The boys had ideas like fireman, policeman, doctor, lawyer, astronaut and engineer. We girls on the other hand focused more on nurse, teacher, mother and secretary. The good news is that things have changed! Now there are women in all types of careers that in the past were typically dominated by men. Although women have made significant progress, there still remain a significant number of high-paying jobs in which women are underrepresented.

According to the US Department of Labor, a nontraditional occupation for women is one in which women comprise 25 percent or less of total employment. These jobs generally offer higher entry-level wages and a career ladder with pay between $20 and $30 per hour. Earning higher wages is certainly one factor, but why do some women choose to work in non-traditional occupations while others don't?

Hope to see you there!

Letter from the President

And we're off! Talk about hitting the ground running. There were several great events in September starting with our branch dinner which, thanks to member Melody Cofield, brought us great coverage in the D&C. The development committee's annual card party was a huge success meeting our goal of $3000, which will be matched by Dr. Nora Wilcox in memory of her mother. The card party proceeds are always targeted for a project at the house with patio awnings targeted this year.

A special thank you for the shoppers, cooks, servers and donors of this annual event.

Dr. Uma Gupta and Jean Arrowsmith hosted a STEM breakfast for not-for-profit organizations in and around the Rochester area who are involved in STEM programs. Thanks to Jean Cappellino and Laurie Ditzel from our hospitality committee for serving in this effort. The not-for-profit groups will be meeting again on October 3 to collaborate on a joint STEM grant. Wow—moving right along!

Nights Out brought us Mexican food, fun, music and some new memberships. We hosted the Chi Eta Phi Sorority of professional nurses. Thanks to Marlene, Rachel, Regine and Ana for making Nights Out such fun. Please consider attending the AAUW District 2 Conference in October (flyer and registration within the newsletter). Violence Against Women on College Campuses is a major concern to us all. Speakers and interns from GRAB will be a big part of this event. We will be carpooling from AAUW so please call and let me know if you need a ride.

Let's keep the momentum going, Thank you all for making this a great September.

Onward!

Marilyn

GRAB AAUW Intern

Robin Graziano is the Fall 2013 intern for GRAB AAUW Public Policy. She is currently a sophomore at the University of Rochester pursuing a double Bachelor's degree in Political Science and Psychology with a minor in Legal Studies.

In our 2013-2014 year, GRAB AAUW will be working to raise awareness of Title IX on college campuses and across the community. We will be planning several programs addressing the issue of violence on college campuses.

“Recent Applications of Title IX”

Passed in 1972, Title IX is the keystone legislation against sexual discrimination in educational institutions, primarily universities, stating: “No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any educational program or activity receiving federal financial assistance.”

While Title IX is associated with equality in athletic departments and programs, the law has increasingly been used to fight sexual harassment and rape cases. This summer, Title IX was used to settle a case against Wesleyan University for failing to make the high risk of assault in the Beta Theta Pi’s fraternity house known to students.

Furthermore, Title IX also covers equal rights and privileges for pregnant women and students. Title IX promotes continuing education for many young mothers, removing many obstacles that they commonly face in their pursuit of education, such as: discrimination, maternal leave, and transportation issues.

While no local legislation has occurred in our community regarding Title IX, the law continues to provide girls with equal opportunities. Ensuring comparable access to resources in education, Title IX has been frequently used to promote the STEM fields among young girls. With Rochester high school graduation rates for public schools at less than fifty percent, it is important the local community support legislation promoting the education of young girls, particularly in the up-and-coming fields. If interested in taking action, contact the Rochester City School District Board, NYS State Senator, Joseph Robach, or local media sites to voice your concerns; bring the issue to attention in town hall meetings, PTA meetings, or community petitions. We hope that raising awareness of this widespread and pressing matter will incite change to improve the educational opportunities for local young women.

Membership Matters

Wow!!! Our last Nights Out, Mexican Fiesta, was a rousing success!! The evening featured wonderful Mexican food and beverage, music, and decor - enjoyed by twenty-seven GRAB members and guests, most notably a dozen women from Chi Eta Phi, a sorority of professional nurses. The evening also featured a house tour of the Perkins Mansion, our home on East Avenue, and a lively discussion in the Library of who we are and what we do: our mission, programs, and interest groups. Big thank yous to Ana DeTomaso, Rachel Adonis, Lorraine Capellino, and Regine Calvar for helping to make this evening so wonderful!

Please join me in welcoming new members Joan Brown, Melody Cofield, Denise Mack, Barbara Thomas, Ellen Lewis, Stephanie Augonis, Maxine Childress-Brown, Uma Gupta and two new dual members Mildred DeWitt (Binghamton and Staten Island Branches) and Ellen Ulrich (Fairport Branch).

New Interest Groups are forming! Just a reminder that you can start a new interest group with only two members and a passion (or passing interest). Want to learn something new? Teach someone a skill or activity? Foster discussion and/or action? Exercise?! Call me at 402-5529 to get started.

Looking forward to seeing you involved, inspired, engaged, and enthused,

Marlene Gordon, Membership VP

Sunday, October 27 – Friends of Susan B. Anthony House – Guitar ConcertTime: 3:00 pm Locust Hill Country Club

Chet Catallo & Cats: Internationally acclaimed guitarist-composer-producer and 6-time Grammy nominee Chet Catallo was born and raised in Rochester, NY. Joining Chet on the guitar will be Andy Calabrese on keyboards, Steve Curry on drums, and John Viavatine on bass.

Delightful music, elegant tea, delicious pastry.

Thursday, November 14 - Mystery Book Club

Time: 4:00 pm

We'll meet to discuss James R. Benn's Billy Boyle series on the unseen war on crime in the ranks of World War II allies. WWII mysteries are relatively rare but they will, no doubt, catch up with the mostly splendid WWI genre. This series certainly covers the inglorious aspects of the invasions. We will try the Rizzoli and Isles mysteries of Tess Gerritson next: The Surgeon, The Apprentice, The Sinner – gritty and harrowing. For something completely different, the Montana westerns of Peter Bowen are also a choice: Coyote Wind, Specimen Song, Wolf.

If you are planning an event at the Perkins Mansion please contact Leslie Sellers, Events Director, at 244-8890, ext. 1 or 435-7202. You can also visit the Perkins Mansion website at <http://perkinsmansion.org/>
