Branch Members Realized their Dream

“On December 11, 1946 the deed was signed and the Branch members realized their dream. They finally had their own clubhouse. The official opening was held on April 20, 1947, the 50th anniversary of the Branch. As Mrs. Perkins turned over the keys to Mrs. Herbert Soule, the Branch president, she spoke these prophetic words”:

The World is so in need of sanity, tolerance, discretion, wisdom, faith, and love. Women need to return to the art of giving tender and loving care in the home and to the community. Education should include more of god and love. I wish for the members of this house a wide future. I wish that this house may send out in the years to come, thoughts and actions that are going to count in making this world of ours a far better one than it is today (Elizabeth Ginna-Perkins).

Future of our Branch and House

Branch Luncheon: Saturday, January 12, 2013

As we turn the corner of the New Year, it is best to know where we are going. The times are uncertain and the economic situation is tenuous. I believe that we, as your officers and board, have made great strides in our work at GRAB to uplift, reenergize and build our branch and house into a self-sustaining organization devoted to equity for women and girls through advocacy, education, research, and philanthropy.

Please save Saturday, January 12, 2013 for serious member discussion on our branch and house crossroads. This is an important meeting where you can ask questions and participate in the direction of our branch and house.

Violence Against Women (VAW) Violence Against Women Act is Overdue for Re-authorization

• Key facts:

- Violence against women - particularly intimate partner violence and sexual violence against women - are major public health problems and violations of women's human rights.
- A WHO multi-country study found that between 15–71% of women aged 15- 49 years reported physical and/or sexual violence by an intimate partner at some point in their lives.
- These forms of violence can result in physical, mental, sexual, reproductive health and other health problems, and may increase vulnerability to HIV.
- Risk factors for being a perpetrator also include low education, past exposure to child maltreatment or witnessing violence in the family, harmful use of alcohol, attitudes accepting of violence and gender inequality.
- Risk factors for being a victim of intimate partner and sexual violence include low education, witnessing violence between parents, exposure to abuse during childhood and attitudes accepting violence and gender inequality.
- In high-income settings, school-based programmes to prevent relationship violence among young people (or dating violence) are supported by some evidence of effectiveness.
- In low-income settings, other primary prevention strategies, such as microfinance combined with gender equality training and community-based initiatives that address gender inequality and communication and relationship skills, hold promise.
- Situations of conflict, post conflict and displacement may exacerbate existing violence and present new forms of violence against women.

Newtown Tragedy

In Honor of the Newtown Tragedy

As the immediate shock of the tragedy wears off, it is time to think about how we as a country got to this place. In the coming weeks and months we will reflect on the reasons and then we will grapple with possible ways to make sure this doesn't ever happen again.

Certainly AAUW members will want to be involved in solutions. We'll think carefully and reflect and then we'll act.

Hold your loved ones close this Holiday season.

Susan Hoover

The election is over, but now the real work begins.

The Congress left a lot of important work undone, and I don't mean just the so-called "fiscal cliff" that is dominating the news.

Chief among these bits of unfinished work is VAWA – the Violence Against Women Act – which has traditionally had bi-partisan and near-unanimous support for 18 years. The Senate passed the Reauthorization Act (S. 1925) in April, but it is stuck in the House.

What are the main issues?

The House version (H.R. 4970) excludes key improvements that were included in the Senate version. These include:

- Provisions to improve the safety of college campuses.
- Rejection of protections for men and women who are lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender, making it difficult for them to find services in their communities.
- Elimination of strong protections and justice for women and children who are beaten or abused on Tribal lands by perpetrators who are not members of a particular tribe.
- Removal of a key requirement that would more easily allow victims to move from one subsidized housing program to another in order to avoid an abuser.

Want to take action to move this along?

We need GOP leadership behind a Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) reauthorization before the end of the 112th Congress.

CALL to urge Speaker Boehner and House Majority Leader Cantor to Pass VAWA.

You can reach the Speaker's office at 202.225.0600 and the Majority Leader's office at 202.225.4000.

Women Elected to Congress

AAUW is thankful for the record number of women elected to Congress: 20 in the Senate and 78 representatives and three delegates in House. We are particularly grateful for the states that elected their first female Senators – Hawaii, Massachusetts, Nebraska, North Dakota, and Wisconsin – and other "first" in the 2012 elections, which broke representation barriers for religion, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, and gender identity.
